

Hi, my name is Billy, and today I will be talking about, do you think or do I think that we live in a dog-eat-dog world?

So just to start off, the _____ (definitely / definition) of a dog-eat-dog world is a world in _____ (where / which) people will do anything to be _____ (famously / famous) or to be successful, even if it _____ (means / meaning) hurting other people.

Now, although I will say that the _____ (word / world) has shifted with hurting people in a _____ (way / weigh), I think that people are trying to help each _____ (another / other). However, we still live in _____ (much / such) a world.

People will do anything for _____ (there / their), what we call, 60 seconds or 30 seconds of _____ (fame / famous). And even if it means _____ (revealing / revealed) something embarrassing about a _____ (friendly / friend), a family, a boss, a coworker, a _____ (post / past) lover, or even a girlfriend or boyfriend at the _____ (moment / memory), they will do it. Anything they can do to be _____ (on / of), what we call, that 30 seconds of _____ (fame / famous).

And with that friendships are _____ (hurt / hurts), relationships and trust are _____ (broke / broken). And this for me is still an _____ (indication / indignation) that we live in a dog-eat-_____ (dog / cat) world.
