

Hello, my name is Chanel, and I am from the United States, and my question is, do you have deadlines at your job?

Well, for me, I have two _____ (jobs / job). So, my first job is that I'm a stay-at-_____ (home / house) mom who homeschools, and the second _____ (jobs / job) that I have, I am a self-published author. So, _____ (for / from) my first job, I set my own deadlines. So, I _____ (set / sit) deadlines that work best for me to make _____ (sure / ensure) I get everything done around the home, and _____ (than / then) also to make sure my kiddos stay on _____ (truck / track) and learn everything that they need to learn. For my second job as being a self-published author, sometimes I still am making my own deadlines, _____ (sense / since) I'm not going through a publishing _____ (company / companies). But I do have to make sure I make deadlines for the _____ (printer / prints), for advertising and for things like that to _____ (make / made) sure that I have everything _____ (flow / flowing) well with the book. Now for _____ (that / those) deadlines, for working with people that's _____ (outsider / outside) of my own little self-publishing bubble. Those deadlines, yes, I have _____ (to / on) make sure that I follow to make sure everything gets _____ (up / out) and goes to the printer, and everything happens _____ (on / in) time, but I do like the stay-at-home mom _____ (sides / side) of things to where I can be a little bit _____ (lax / luck) on my deadlines. So, I have the best of both _____ (worlds / world).

What about you? Does your job have _____ (deadline / deadlines) that you have to follow?
