Part 1: Listen to the conversation and answer the questions.

1	What is his apartment like in Thailand?	2	Where does he sometimes cook?	3	Where does he walk around a lot?
a	old	a	Japan	a	Japan
b	small	b	Thailand	b	Thailand

Part 2: Put the following words in the text.

car / kitchen / street / spend / different / expensive / money / talk / good / around

Hey guys. In this video I'm going to talk about my two homes and how they're very _____.

So I live about half the year in Japan and half the year in Thailand. And my life is different in each place. So in Thailand, I don't cook much. Actually, I don't cook at all because my little apartment does not have a _____, so I eat out often. Actually, I eat out all the time in Japan, though. I cook sometimes in Japan. I don't use the bus that much. I have a _____, so I drive a lot. But in Thailand, I don't drive at all. I never drive actually. So I either take the bus or I take the BTS. So that's a little bit different. Also in Japan, I don't walk much, don't walk around that much. But in Thailand, I walk _____ a lot. I walk to the park, I walk down the _____. I'm just always walking. So I kind of like that.

In Japan, I speak Japanese, but I don't speak that much. Actually. I don't know why. I guess because people don't _____ as much in Japan, and maybe my Japanese is not as _____. But in Thailand, I speak Thai a lot, so maybe that's also a little bit different. In Thailand, I don't spend that much money, but Bangkok is getting more _____. And then where I live in Japan's not too expensive, so I don't _____ that much money there, but I spend much more _____ on rent in Japan than I do in Thailand. So both places are great. I love 'em, but they're just a little bit different.

Hey guys. In this video I'm going to talk about my two homes and how they're very different.

So I live about half the year in Japan and half the year in Thailand. And my life is different in each place. So in Thailand, I don't cook much. Actually, I don't cook at all because my little apartment does not have a kitchen, so I eat out often. Actually, I eat out all the time in Japan, though. I cook sometimes in Japan. I don't use the bus that much. I have a car, so I drive a lot. But in Thailand, I don't drive at all. I never drive actually. So I either take the bus or I take the BTS. So that's a little bit different. Also in Japan, I don't walk much, don't walk around that much. But in Thailand, I walk around a lot. I walk to the park, I walk down the street. I'm just always walking. So I kind of like that.

In Japan, I speak Japanese, but I don't speak that much. Actually. I don't know why. I guess because people don't talk as much in Japan, and maybe my Japanese is not as good. But in Thailand, I speak Thai a lot, so maybe that's also a little bit different. In Thailand, I don't spend that much money, but Bangkok is getting more expensive. And then where I live in Japan's not too expensive, so I don't spend that much money there, but I spend much more money on rent in Japan than I do in Thailand. So both places are great. I love 'em, but they're just a little bit different.
