

I'm Tahir, and I am from London in the _____ (United / Unite) Kingdom. And my question is, should _____ (entrepreneurship / entrepreneur) be taught in schools?

I think _____ (that / this) entrepreneurship should be a part of _____ (you're / your) school experience, but I'm not _____ (sure / shore) if we should necessarily spend an _____ (our / hour) a day teaching entrepreneurship ____ (is / as) a subject in and of itself.

So, for _____ (examples / example), I know that in the US there were _____ (loads / load) of fairs and competitions within the schools _____ (four / for) different entrepreneurial related things like _____ (product / productive) designs or coming up with the best _____ (inventions / inventor), which I think is super cool. That's not really something that we have _____ (much / more) of in the United Kingdom.

So I do think that entrepreneurship _____ (shoulder / should) be incorporated in the school culture, even if it's not _____ (direct / directly) taught as part of the _____ (every day / everyday) curriculum. So yeah, that's _____ (short / sort) of my views on how entrepreneurship should have its _____ (role / roll) in day-to-day school _____ (learners / learning).
