

Hi, my name is Elisabeth and I'm from the United States. And ____ (me / my) question is, what is a company that ____ (went / want) bankrupt?

So one ____ (companies / company) that comes to mind is Toys "R" Us, and this was a huge toy ____ (retailer / retail) in the US, UK, several other ____ (countries / country). Now, this company went bankrupt in 2018. I ____ (use / used) to love going to it as a kid. It had everything ____ (fun / fan) you could possibly ____ (imagine / image): games, balls, stuffed animals, Barbies, you ____ (names / name) it. It was a kid paradise.

But the company ____ (rarely / really) went bankrupt because of ____ (its / it's) inability to innovate or keep ____ (on / up) with the times. So it really got taken ____ (over / of) by companies like Amazon, Amazon Prime, as more people ____ (turn / turning) to online shopping and not an in-store experience. And also, I think it ____ (reflect / reflects) that children today really aren't ____ (playing / played) with physical toys. They're playing online video games; they're playing games ____ (on / in) their phones. And yeah, again, Toys "R" Us just really went bankrupt because it just did not ____ (keeping / keep) up with the changing ____ (times / time).
